PREFACE

ENGLISH 900®, a course for students of English as a second language, contains material from beginning through intermediate levels of study. The whole series consists of textbooks, workbooks, and tape recordings, with a teacher's handbook.

ENGLISH 900® is one of the basic instructional courses in the Collier Macmillan English Program. Included in the Program is a series of graded readers in which six are keyed to the vocabulary and structure of each study unit in the basic texts of ENGLISH 900®.

The series takes its name from the 900 base sentences presented in the six textbooks. The sentences cover the basic structures and a basic vocabulary of the English language. They are introduced at the rate of fifteen in each study unit, or a hundred and fifty in each book, and are numbered consecutively from Base Sentence 1 in the first unit of Book One through Base Sentence 900 in the last unit of Book Six. These structures provide "building blocks" for all of the material studied in the series, e.g., there are approximately four variation sentences for each base sentence. As a part of his mastery of English, therefore, the student practices and learns approximately 3,600 variation sentences in addition to the basic 900 patterns.

There are ten study units in each textbook in the series. Each study unit contains a group of fifteen base sentences related to a meaningful situation. In Book One of the series, the typical study unit begins with the presentation of the fifteen Base Sentences together with Intonation patterns. Questions and Answers follow and give the student practice in pairing and matching the base sentences into conversational form. Substitution Drills introduce the variation sentences, using vocabulary and grammatical substitution techniques. These early sections of the unit provide the pronunciation practice and drill material needed for the mastery of language forms. The Conversation section consists of short dialogues giving the student the opportunity to practice the new lesson material in informal conversation in the classroom. Exercises in each unit can be used as oral and written drills for all of the materials introduced in the unit.

Units in the succeeding books in the series (Books Two to Six) contain Base Sentences, Intonation practice, Substitution Drills, Conversation, and Exercises, and, in addition, certain new features. Beginning with Book Two, a Reading Practice section is added to each unit, and, beginning with Book Three, a Verb Study section. Books Four, Five, and Six include Participation Drills for classroom use, and Books Five and Six present Grammar Study materials and review exercises.

Each textbook includes a Key to the exercises and a Word Index which lists in alphabetical order every word introduced in the book, and cites the sentence and unit number in which the new word first occurred. There are special Review Units in Books One through Four.

A companion Workbook is available for each of the six textbooks, and a series of 180 pre-recorded tapes has been prepared for language laboratory use. ENGLISH 900® Workbooks are unique in that they have been programmed for use by the student as home study material to reinforce classroom work. The Workbooks “test” the student on the textbook materials, and review the important points in each unit that he may not have mastered in class.

For classes that meet for three to five hours a week, each textbook in the series provides material for approximately three months of study. Suggestions for teaching the course, as well as detailed descriptions of all of the materials in ENGLISH 900®, have been given in the Teacher’s Manual which accompanies the series.

A wide range of material has been created for the Collier Macmillan English Program by the Materials Development Staff of English Language Services, Inc., under the co-direction of Edwin T. Cornelius, Jr. and Willard D. Sheeler. ENGLISH 900® was prepared under the direction of Edwin T. Cornelius, Jr., with Joyce R. Manes as Project Editor.

UNIT 1 TELLING ABOUT PAST EXPERIENCES

- 601 A strange thing happened to me this morning.
602 I was crossing the street and was almost hit by a car.
603 Fortunately, I jumped back in time to avoid being hit.
604 It was a terrible experience, and I won't forget it.
605 Yesterday was such a beautiful day we decided to go for a drive.
606 We prepared a picnic lunch and drove down by the river.
607 After a while, we found a shady place under some poplar trees.
608 On the way back home, we had a flat tire.
609 It was after dark when we got back, and we were all tired.
610 I wish you would give me a more detailed description of your trip.
611 Speaking of trips, did I ever tell you about the experience I had?
612 We used to have a lot of fun when we were that age.
613 I can't recall the exact circumstances.
614 I never realized that someday I would be living in New York.
615 We never imagined that John would become a doctor.

Telling About Past Experiences

An odd thing happened to me last Sunday. It was such a beautiful day that I decided to go for a leisurely drive in the country.

On the way back home, my motor stopped. I was out of gasoline on a lonely road far from a town. I decided to walk until I found someone who could sell me a gallon or two of gasoline.

I had walked almost a mile before I finally found a big house near the road. I was glad to see it because it was starting to get dark.

I knocked on the door and a little old lady with long white hair answered. She said, "I've been waiting for you for a long time. Come in. Tea is almost ready."

"But I only came for some gasoline," I answered. I couldn't imagine what she was talking about.

"Oh, Alfred! Gasoline? You used to prefer tea."

I quickly explained that my car was out of gasoline, but she didn't seem to hear me. She just kept calling me Alfred and talking about how long it had been since she had seen me. She was behaving very strangely and I was anxious to leave. As soon as she went to get the tea I went out of the house as fast as I could.

Fortunately, there was another house down the road, and I was able to buy several gallons of gasoline. When I told the man about my experience, he said, "Oh, that's Miss Emily. She lives by herself in that big house. She's peculiar, but she wouldn't hurt anyone. She's still waiting for the man she was supposed to marry thirty years ago. The day before their wedding he went away and never came back."

Questions

1. Why did the man in the story decide to go for a drive?
2. Where was he when his motor stopped?
3. What was wrong with his car?
4. What did he decide to do?
5. What did the old lady say to him?
6. Why did he run out of the house?
7. What did the man tell him about Miss Emily?

CONVERSATION

Telling About Past Experiences

JIM: Harry! What's the matter? You look pale. Are you sick?

HARRY: I just had a terrible experience.

JIM: Sit down. Let me get you a glass of water.

HARRY: No thanks, Jim. I'll be fine in a minute.

JIM: Did you have an accident?

HARRY: Not quite, but almost. I was crossing the street just now and was almost hit by a car. Fortunately, I jumped back in time.

JIM: How awful! I hope you got the license number of the car so you can report this man to the police department.

HARRY: Before I realized what had happened, the car was gone.

JIM: Drivers like that should have their licenses taken away from them.

HARRY: I agree. I won't forget this for a long time.

JIM: I'm sure you won't.

HARRY: Yes, from now on I won't cross the street in the middle of the block reading my newspaper. I'll have to watch where I'm going, since there are dangerous drivers like that one on the road.

Asking About Furniture and Places To Live

There are many things to consider when you are looking for a house, whether you intend to buy or only rent. After all, it is going to be your home, perhaps for quite a long time, and you want to be happy with it. You have to decide exactly what kind of house you want, how much you can afford to pay, and the type of neighborhood you wish to live in.

Last week my wife and I arranged to see a house that was for sale.

The agent said it might need a few repairs, but he thought we should look at it anyway. He told us it was a bargain. Some bargain! The roof leaked and the plumbing didn't work. The front steps were broken and the back door had no lock on it. It needed to be painted both inside and outside. It was in terrible condition.

"What do you think?" the agent asked.

"It isn't exactly what we want," we told him.

"You're very difficult to please," he said. "Perhaps you'd better have your house custom built."

Questions

1. What should you consider before buying a house?
2. What did the agent tell my wife and me about the house that was for sale?
3. What was wrong with the house?
4. Do you think this house was a good "bargain"?
5. What did the agent say when we told him we didn't want this house?

CONVERSATION

Asking About Furniture and Places To Live

AGENT: Good morning! May I help you?

MR. PITT: Yes, you may. My wife and I are interested in renting a house for the summer.

MRS. PITT: We want something near the beach, if you have it.

AGENT: Do you want a furnished house or an unfurnished one?

MRS. PITT: Furnished. But we have our own sheets and towels.

AGENT: Very well. How long do you want the house? All summer?

MR. PITT: No, not all summer. Just for six weeks.

AGENT: I'm afraid I can only rent it for two months.

MR. PITT: My vacation is only for six weeks, but I think my brother and his family would take it for the other two weeks.

MRS. PITT: Is the house in good condition?

AGENT: Yes, it is. It was just painted and it has all the modern conveniences, including air conditioning.

MRS. PITT: Wonderful. Let's take it, John.

MR. PITT: Not so fast, Eva. We haven't seen it yet, and we have no idea how much it costs.

Talking About Things to Wear

Have you noticed that men and women have very different opinions about clothing? Mr. Harper, for example, has probably been wearing the same clothes for several years and intends to wear them for several more. He's very happy if his clothes last for a long time. He only needs a couple of suits and a sports coat and slacks. Occasionally he buys a shirt, a pair of socks, some underwear, or a new tie. Mr. Harper is confident that he has enough clothing.

He thinks that his wife has plenty of clothes, too. She has several dresses, some skirts and blouses, and a few pairs of shoes. But whenever they plan to go out for the evening she says, "I don't know what to do. I have nothing to wear."

"What about all the things in your closet?" Mr. Harper asks his wife. But he knows what the answer will be. One dress is out of style, another is too small or too short, and the third just doesn't appeal to her anymore. Sometimes Mr. Harper can persuade his wife that something from her closet looks good on her. But once in a while she insists on going shopping for a new dress and new shoes.

Mr. Harper talks a lot, but he doesn't really mind if his wife buys new clothes once in a while. Actually, he likes her to look attractive when they go to the theater or to a party.

Questions

1. Why do you think women need more clothing than men?
2. How long does Mr. Harper wear the same clothes?
3. What does he buy occasionally?
4. What does his wife have in her closet?
5. Why does she frequently say that she has nothing to wear?
6. Why doesn't Mr. Harper mind if his wife buys new clothes once in a while?
7. Do you think men worry about styles as much as women do?

CONVERSATION

Talking About Things to Wear

Dialog 1

- BILL: I don't know what to wear today. Is it going to be cold or warm?
- BILL'S BROTHER: It looks like it's going to rain today. You'd better take your raincoat.
- BILL: I can't decide whether to wear my grey suit or the brown one.
- BILL'S BROTHER: Why don't you wear the grey one? It's not as heavy as the brown one. It may rain today, but it won't be very cold.
- BILL: All right. What are you going to wear?
- BILL'S BROTHER: I think I'll wear my new jacket and dark blue trousers. And if I can borrow your blue tie, I'll wear that. I don't have a blue tie.
- BILL: Of course you can have it. All of my shirts are at the laundry, so I borrowed one of yours. I was sure you wouldn't mind.

Dialog 2

- ALICE: What kind of dress are you looking for?
- MARY: Since it's getting warmer this time of year, I want something lightweight. What material do you think would be best?
- ALICE: Let's see what there is. We can go to several stores. Personally, I like a cotton dress for spring.
- MARY: So do I. And I could wear it all summer, too. I want something I can use for a long time.
- ALICE: What color would you like? Yellow or green would be good colors for you.
- MARY: Oh! I want a white dress.
- ALICE: Are you sure? It's not a very practical color. It gets dirty so fast.
- MARY: I know. But I'm getting married on Saturday, and white is the traditional color for a wedding dress.

EXERCISES

Noun Modifiers (2)

1. Single-word modifiers can often be used in place of adjective phrases. Correct the following sentences by changing the italicized phrases to single-word adjectives. Place the adjective before the noun as shown in the example.

Example: You'd better wear a coat for winter.
 You'd better wear a winter coat.

- a. A suit that is lightweight is comfortable on a hot day.
- b. I send clothes that are dirty to the laundry.
- c. It's cloudy, so you'd better put on a coat for the rain today.
- d. This suit, which is wrinkled, will have to be pressed.
- e. My skirt, which is aqua, is the same color as my blouse.
- f. If you're going to clean the basement, you'd better wear your clothes for work.
- g. I can't fasten this button for my collar. Will you help me?
- h. Those trunks for swimming are too small.
- i. I didn't realize that I had outgrown my suit for bathing.

Adjective clauses (with "who", "which", "whose") function as noun modifiers. These clauses are placed after the noun they modify.

2. Combine the following pairs of sentences as shown in the example.

Example: The students work hard. They are learning English.
 The students who are learning English work hard.

- a. The tailor cleaned and pressed my coat. The tailor is on Main Street.
- b. The men wore dress clothes. The men came to the party.
- c. My husband wears slippers and a bathrobe in the house. My husband likes to be comfortable.
- d. The man is chilly. The man forgot his jacket.

3. Using the sentences in Exercise 2, combine the pairs of sentences as shown in the example.

Example: The students work hard. They are learning English.
 The students who work hard are learning English.

4. Combine the following sentences as shown in the example.

Example: This book is interesting. This book is written in English.
This book which is written in English is interesting.

- a. These shoes lasted for a long time. These shoes are worn-out.

READING

Discussing Different Points of View

Some people are always starting an argument. They often have very little information on the subject, but this doesn't matter. They have strong beliefs, anyway. There's no point in debating with people like this because you can never resolve anything.

But with other people a difference of opinion can start an extremely interesting discussion. Each person tries to explain his point of view, but he listens to other arguments, too. This type of conflict becomes an exchange of ideas instead of a quarrel. Whether or not their differences are reconciled, each person learns something from the experience.

In New England and in some other parts of the United States, citizens of the town meet and talk over all local problems. The people sometimes disagree with each other, and there may be some arguments. Each side will try to persuade others that its point of view is the best. But frequently the two sides are not really far apart in their views, and this kind of public discussion helps to settle their differences. This is a healthy situation.

Questions

1. Why shouldn't you argue with people who have little information on a subject?
2. What is a quarrel? What is a discussion? How are they different?
3. When does a conflict become an exchange of ideas instead of a quarrel?
4. What do the citizens do in New England?
5. Do you think public discussion of local problems is a good idea? Why?
6. Do you know of other places where citizens meet for public discussion of local problems?

CONVERSATION

Discussing Different Points of View

- FRED: Do you mean to tell me you don't care for modern art? Not any of it?
- JOAN: That's right. I don't understand it and I don't like it.
- FRED: That's a very narrow-minded viewpoint. If you don't understand it, how can you say that you don't like it?
- JOAN: Perhaps I am a little conservative. I just can't imagine that the modern artist is really serious.
- FRED: I won't argue with you, but I think you're being unfair. The modern artist has a different approach to his work than the more traditional artist.
- JOAN: Are you trying to tell me that these peculiar paintings mean anything? A child could paint better than that.
- FRED: I guess there's no point in discussing the matter any further. You have your opinion and I have mine.
- JOAN: I agree there are two sides to everything, but this time I see only one of them.
- FRED: Well, I'm attempting to explain that the modern artist is trying to get across his personal feelings about the world around him.
- JOAN: Then he should keep his feelings to himself.

Thinking About Future Activities

There are some people who just can't make up their minds by themselves. They frequently ask the advice of their friends and then do the opposite of what their friends have suggested.

My brother Tom is such a person. He can never decide what to do, and is always asking my opinion. I try to help him as well as I can, but he never takes my advice. Yesterday I answered his question in a different way.

"Look," he said, showing me a letter. "What do you think I ought to do?"

The letter was an offer of a job. It seemed to be an excellent opportunity for a young engineer. Tom would be sent to Africa to work. The job would pay very well, and he would be able to travel and visit many interesting places.

"What do you think, Bill?" he asked. "Should I go? If I were to accept the job, I'd have to stay in Africa for two years. I might have to stay longer. But it would be wonderful experience for me. What should I do?"

"Don't go," I told him. "You'd be very unhappy."

"Don't go?" he looked very surprised at my answer.

As you've probably guessed, Tom accepted the offer. I don't know if it has occurred to him that I actually wanted him to take the job.

Questions

1. What do some people do when they can't make up their minds?
2. What was in the letter that Tom showed to Bill?
3. Where would Tom be sent?
4. What did Bill advise Tom to do?
5. Why did Bill tell Tom not to take the job?
6. Do you think Bill did the right thing?

CONVERSATIONThinking About Possible Future Activities*Dialog 1

DAVE: Would you like to go to the movies with me tonight, Jean?

JEAN: Thanks, Dave. I'd like to go very much, but there's a possibility I'll have to work at the library.

DAVE: How soon will you know?

JEAN: I should know this afternoon. Why don't you call me up later?

DAVE: All right. If you finish your work early, perhaps we can still go somewhere tonight.

JEAN: Fine. Suppose I don't get finished in time. Would you be able to go tomorrow night?

DAVE: Sure, I can go tomorrow night, too.

Dialog 2

CHUCK: Will you be going home for Christmas this year, Nancy?

NANCY: I want to go, but I don't know if I'll have enough money by then.

CHUCK: You live in Portland, Oregon, don't you?

NANCY: That's right. And the plane fare is very expensive.

CHUCK: Why don't you go by train? It would be cheaper than the plane.

NANCY: Yes, but I don't care for trains very much.

CHUCK: How about the bus? That's not very expensive, either.

NANCY: I'm never comfortable on a bus, and it takes such a long time.

CHUCK: Well, you can do one of two things, then. Either start saving your money for the plane fare, or start walking now.

Talking About Past Possibilities

The two girls sat drinking their coffee without talking. Finally, Judy asked, "What would you have done if this had happened to you?"

Betty drank some more coffee before she answered. "If this had happened to me, I'd have told Steve exactly what I thought of him. I wouldn't have been so nice to him."

"If I'd had enough time to think about it," Judy agreed, "I'd have given him an argument for causing me so much inconvenience."

They were discussing what had happened that morning. Steve had asked Judy to go to the school dance with him on Saturday night, and she had accepted. Now, it seemed, he wouldn't be able to go.

"He should have told me sooner," Judy said. "I might have been able to go with someone else. I wouldn't have had to stay home while everyone else went to the dance."

"You could have gone with Charles," Betty reminded her.

"Yes, but it's too late now," Judy said. "You'd think that when a boy had invited you to the biggest dance of the year, he'd have realized how important it was."

Betty agreed. "That's right. If he hadn't slipped and fallen, you wouldn't have this problem. He should have broken his leg some other time."

Questions

1. Why is Judy so unhappy?
2. What's the matter with Steve?
3. Do you think Judy should have given him an argument?
4. What would you have done if you had been Steve?
5. Why can't Judy go to the dance with someone else?

CONVERSATION

Talking About Past Possibilities

STELLA: Don't worry about it, Stanley. There's nothing we can do now.

STANLEY: I can't help it, Stella. If I'd been thinking, this wouldn't have happened.

STELLA: We all make mistakes. I see no point in standing here talking about it.

STANLEY: If I hadn't gone on that trip, I wouldn't have forgotten about it.

STELLA: It's not really your fault. I didn't remember, either.

STANLEY: There's no excuse for it, Stella. I had known about it for several weeks.

STELLA: Well, it's too late to do anything now.

STANLEY: If we had written it down on the calendar, we wouldn't have made this mistake.

STELLA: We can do that next time, but it won't help us now. Let's go home.

STANLEY: I guess you're right. Next time I buy tickets for the theater, I'll be sure to look at the date. Then we'll go on the right day instead of a day late.

READING

Likes and Dislikes

There was a very interesting story in this morning's newspaper about a man who had just received an inheritance of a million dollars. The newspaper account was quite detailed. It said the man behaves very strangely. What others like, he dislikes, and what most people enjoy, he doesn't care for.

For example, most people enjoy summer weather when they can wear lightweight clothes. No one else would think of wearing a long coat and a hat on a hot day, but he does. He says he can't stand the sun, but he'll take long walks in the rain without a raincoat or an umbrella. He's extremely particular about selecting the correct tie to wear with his suit, but it doesn't bother him if his shirt is dirty or his suit isn't pressed.

He always sees the negative side of everything. He finds fault with the best movie of the year, but stays awake until two a.m. watching very old movies on television. Even his taste in food is peculiar. He drinks warm water and cold tea, eats raw eggs and can't stand fresh fruit.

Last week his uncle died and left him the million dollars. Perhaps the uncle was rather odd, too. Or maybe he knew about his nephew's strange preferences—one of them, anyway—and decided to try to cure him.

In his will, the old man insisted that the nephew spend half the inheritance within the next five years. If he didn't, the money would be given to a university.

Everyone is anxious to know what the nephew will do. You see, he likes to buy things, but he hates to spend money.

Questions

1. What are some of the strange preferences of the man in the story?
2. What happened last week?
3. What did the uncle insist on in his will?
4. Why do you suppose the uncle wrote his will in this way?
5. Do you think the nephew will spend half the money in the next five years?
6. What would you buy if you had to spend half a million dollars in five years?

- DONALD: Yes, I think we're ready to order. Elizabeth, what would you like to have?
- ELIZABETH: I haven't made up my mind yet. You order first, Donald.
- DONALD: All right. I'll start with chicken soup. Then I want a steak, medium rare. I'll have a baked potato, green beans, and a tossed salad. I'll order dessert later.
- WAITER: Yes, sir. And you, miss. What would you like to have?
- ELIZABETH: I can't decide. I don't see anything I really like.
- WAITER: There are over thirty dishes to select from, miss.
- DONALD: There ought to be something you like, Elizabeth.
- ELIZABETH: Well, I guess so. But I only see food that I don't like. I don't care for chicken and I can't stand fish. Do you have any oysters?
- WAITER: No, miss. I'm afraid not. How about some other seafood?
- ELIZABETH: Oysters are the only seafood I like; I dislike the rest.
- DONALD: I wish I could think of something for you.
- WAITER: May I suggest cream of tomato soup, steak with mushroom gravy, asparagus, and buttered cauliflower. For dessert—strawberry pie with ice cream?
- ELIZABETH: No, that isn't my idea of a good meal. I'll have a hamburger. That's my favorite dish. I have it every day.

READING

Giving Advice and Opinions

Dear Ellen,

I just received your letter and I want to let you know my opinion of your plans for the future. I hope you won't take offense, but will accept what I say here as some fatherly advice.

I was quite surprised when I read in your letter that you had decided not to finish your studies at the university. I realize that Peter wants you to marry him this summer. But with only one more year to go, you would be well advised to finish. A year is really a short time, and later you will be glad you postponed getting married.

As you know, my reaction to Peter was extremely favorable when I met him. He's an exceptionally fine young man and should be a good husband. But I suggest you complete your education first.

You are twenty-one, a grown-up young lady old enough to make up your own mind. This is something you'll have to work out yourself. As your uncle, I have always tried not to interfere in your affairs and I don't intend to begin now. But, my dear niece, please do consider my words very carefully before you decide. Whatever you do, though, Ellen, you know I only want one thing for you, and that is your happiness.

Affectionately,
Uncle Tim

Questions

1. What was Ellen's uncle surprised about?
2. How much longer did Ellen have to study to complete her education at the university?
3. What was Ellen's uncle's opinion of Peter?
4. What did he advise Ellen to do?
5. What was the one thing that Ellen's uncle wanted for her?
6. Do you think Ellen should wait or marry Peter this summer?

CONVERSATION

Giving Advice and Opinions

- GEORGE: Jack, would you please read this letter of application I've just written? I'd like to have your opinion.
- JACK: I'd be glad to tell you what I think.
- GEORGE: If you don't think it's any good, please say so. I really want to get this job.
- JACK: It looks fine to me. But I have one suggestion.
- GEORGE: Good! I'm interested in your advice.
- JACK: If I were you I'd change the beginning. You should write about your education first.
- GEORGE: Good idea, Jack. What do you think about the second part?
- JACK: Now that you've asked me, I think it's too short. You should include much more information about your work experience.
- GEORGE: You're right. I'll change it. How do you feel about the last part of the letter?
- JACK: Very good. But, unless I miss my guess, you should say something about your family, too.
- GEORGE: I agree. I appreciate your helping me, Jack. Do you think the end is all right?
- JACK: Oh, yes, George. But personally I believe a business letter should end with "Very truly yours", not "Sincerely".
- GEORGE: I guess I'd better tear up the letter and start over again.
- JACK: Oh, don't do that, George! Just make the few changes I suggested, and your letter will be perfect!

Asking Favors of Other People

There are two men in important positions in my office—Mr. Thompson and Mr. White. Everyone enjoys working with Mr. Thompson, but no one likes Mr. White.

Mr. Thompson is always thoughtful and considerate. When he wants something done, he'll ask, "Would you mind getting this information for me, please?" Mr. White is just the opposite. He usually shouts across the room, "Get me this memorandum, and hurry up."

Mr. White surprised us this morning, though. At first we thought he must be sick. He was kind and agreeable. "Miss Erickson," he asked, "if it isn't too much trouble for you, could you please make these telephone calls for me?" June Erickson was astonished. Right after that, Mr. White said, "Miss Reed, would you be so kind as to open the window? It's quite warm in here." Then he talked to me. "I'd appreciate it very much if you'd mail these letters for me."

We couldn't imagine why he was behaving so strangely. Should we offer him aspirins? Or had Mr. White changed his personality?

The situation was soon cleared up. "Ladies," Mr. Thompson said, "I've been told that the president of the company will be here soon. He's very interested in the welfare of his employees and will have some questions to ask you about your working conditions here."

Questions

1. What kind of positions do Mr. Thompson and Mr. White have?
2. Why does everyone like Mr. Thompson?
3. What does Mr. White usually do when he wants something?
4. How did Mr. White behave this morning?
5. What did everyone think?
6. What did Mr. Thompson say to clear up the situation?
7. Which man would you rather work for—Mr. Thompson or Mr. White? Why?

 DAN: Of course. What do you want me to do?
 MARJORIE: Could you hold these packages while I look for the key to the door?
 DAN: I'd be glad to. What's in these packages? They're extremely heavy.
 MARJORIE: Just the things we need for the picnic tomorrow.
 DAN: Well, hurry up and open the door. I told you these things were heavy.
 MARJORIE: I can't find the key. You must have it.
 DAN: You're right, but how can I get the key while I'm holding all these packages?

Dialog 2

- BOB: Would you please do me a favor. Ben?
 BEN: It depends on what it is.
 BOB: Could you loan me five dollars until Tuesday?
 BEN: I suppose so—if you're sure you can pay me on Tuesday.
 BOB: Of course. There's something else, too, Ben. Would you mind lending me your car tonight?
 BEN: Well, I guess not. I have to study anyway, so I won't be using it.
 BOB: Wonderful! I have one last favor to ask you. I'd appreciate it if I could borrow your blue suit tonight.
 BEN: What's the matter with your suit?
 BOB: It's in the cleaners. I'm taking Genevieve to the movies tonight, and I want to look good.
 BEN: Genevieve? But she's my girl.
 BOB: Oh, I nearly forgot. Could I borrow Genevieve, too?

Making Preparations To Travel

Everyone told me to make my travel preparations early, but I thought I had plenty of time. I had no idea how much there was to do and I waited too long before I began getting ready.

First, I had to apply for a passport and visa because I was going to visit a foreign country. I had to get several inoculations at the doctor's office. Then I needed to drop by the bank and get some traveler's checks.

At the same time, there were many things to be taken care of at home. I had the phone disconnected and the dog taken to the kennels, but I almost forgot to have the milk and newspaper deliveries stopped. The postman had to remind me to leave my forwarding address at the post office. I know it would have slipped my mind if he hadn't mentioned it.

The day I was supposed to leave, I realized I still hadn't received my passport and visa. I simply couldn't believe the time had passed so quickly. I was really afraid I would be left behind.

Fortunately, the mail was delivered early and my passport arrived. By the time I got to the airport, they were already calling my flight. I just barely had time to make it. As soon as I sat down inside the plane, I remembered that I hadn't taken my camera, but it was too late to worry about that. I would have to buy another one if I wanted to take pictures.

I did have a wonderful time during this trip, but the next time I plan to travel, I'm going to be sure to start preparing early enough to avoid all the last-minute problems.

Questions

1. Why did I wait so long to begin getting ready for my trip?
2. What did I need because I was going to visit a foreign country?
3. What were the things I had to take care of at home?
4. Why was I afraid I would be left behind?
5. What did I forget to take?
6. Why is it a good idea to begin making travel plans early?

- STEWARD: Do you have your passport, Mrs. Jones?
- MRS. JONES: Yes, I have it right here. And I have the boat tickets. What else could it be?
- STEWARD: You have all your suitcases, don't you?
- MRS. JONES: I believe so. Let's see. One . . . two . . . three . . . four . . . five. Yes, they're all here.
- STEWARD: Well, it seems to me you have everything you'll need, Mrs. Jones.
- MRS. JONES: No, I don't. Something is missing, but I can't think what it could be.
- STEWARD: Don't worry about it now. The ship is about to leave. By the way, where is Mr. Jones?
- MRS. JONES: Mr. Jones? Oh! Now I know what it is! I forgot my husband!

Dialog 2

- CLERK: May I help you, sir?
- JIM: Yes, please. I want to buy a personal gift for my brother. He's taking a trip to South America.
- CLERK: Is he going by ship or by plane?
- JIM: He's flying. My gift will have to be something light in weight. What can you suggest?
- CLERK: What about this wallet? It's made of very fine leather.
- JIM: My sister already gave him one. I'd like something unusual.
- CLERK: Here is a gift for the man who has everything.
- JIM: Oh, a folding toothbrush. That's a wonderful idea. I'll take it.
